of Engineers at Biloxi Tuesday.

The points were compiled by David N. McDonald, local disaster chairman, after consultation with various public officials and read to the hearing by J. Cyril Glover, county Red Cross chairman.

McDonald proposed a sand beach along the 10-mile seawall from the Jordan River to Bayou Caddy, drainage in low lying areas where water stands after high tide creating a health hazard, and a centralized disaster communications system.

The sand beach from Bay St.

Louis to Lakeshore, his letter declared, would protect and prevent the erosion now occurring and lengthen the life of the seawall considerably. He noted that constant erosion is an everyday thing, making it very vulnerable when the strong action of hurricanes wash against and over it. At these times, various sections which have eroded from beneath the roadway collapse and the concrete structure suffers great damage.

Supervisors Back Beach Clean Up; Check on Aid

Hancock County supervisors gave full approval to the newly organized beachfront clean up committee Wednesday morning, but postponed a requested $500 contribution until a local and private bill passed about 1952 granting clean up privileges to the area could be investigated.

Committee members will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at City Hall to draft further plans for the proposed clean up.

Bea 5 Supervisor R. G. Hubbard told committee chairman Dr. J. F. Dicks he was not sure whether the bill was limited to the Town of Waveland or could be applied county-wide.

He noted that earlier attempts to remove hazardous and unsightly pilings and debris along the seawall had been blocked when no assurance could be obtained that the present situation would not be repeated.

With this in mind, the supervisor gave Dicks and committee members Ray Gordon, James Robert, Leonard Ladner and N. L. Carter, verbal assurance he would be behind their drive if ordinances in Bay St. Louis and Waveland could be passed requiring building permits with strict specifications for private piers and the board was legally allowed to assist.

Dicks based his $500 clearing

Jurors Find Bumper Crop of True Bills

T. Bourgeois Grand Jury Voices Concern on Crime

Concern over the great number of burglary and larceny charges arising at this term of Circuit Court was expressed by the grand jury in its report which urges imposing stiff penalties on the offenders.

Noting that this type of crime is on the increase in the county, the jury observed that it is returning a larger number of indictments for stealing than any other body in the county. It called on law enforcement officials to exercise diligence for the protection of county residents so the area can grow and prosper.

"Generally, we find that the law enforcement officials are doing their duties, we urge upon all of them to inform themselves as to their lawful and legal duties as to perform these duties and not to exceed them and violate the rights of any individual," the report continued.

Signed by Russell Summers, foreman, the report noted overcrowding in the jail at present but was not sure this condition warrants increasing the size now. Interior repairs and painting are needed there.

Management of the county home was commended for its condition but attention is called to the grand jury's recommendation last March that a deep freezer be secured to make food buying more economical which has not yet been carried out by the board of supervisors. It asked that the September grand jury check on this.

The Courthouse, the grand jury found need for plaster repairs, particularly in the sheriff's office, and work on plumbing in the rest rooms. It recommended immediate attention from the supervisors. Overcrowding in the building also was noted with the suggestion that enlarging office space be prohibited by state law from discussing matters brought before the jury for six months, but observers said it could have been a case of self defense.

Elmore Chatman, charged with child desertion and arraigned Wednesday, pleaded guilty and got two years in the penitentiary suspended on four years probation.

Trial of Frank Schoonmaker, 19-year-old Bay St. Louis Jaycees had passed a similar resolution concerning Bourgeois, but was remanded by Board President R. G. Hubbard that neither resolution had been presented to the board, adding he had learned of the Jaycee resolution through the Waveland Advocate.

Hubbard called for the hearing to completely air the long discussed matter and requested Clerk Claborne Ladner to summon former clerk A. C. Mitchell and former sheriff Sylvan Jack Ladner to appear since they were in office at the time of Bourgeois' beating and knew the full history of the case.

Among the installations qualifying are Keesler Air Force Base, the Veterans Administration Hospitals, the Navy base, Higgins and Ingalls shipyards.

Fritz Garcia was reelected for a five-year term as trustee at Gulfview School on the recommendation of Mrs. McDonald, in whose beat the school is located.

Also relating to Gulfview, Superintendent K. G. McCarty was directed to get estimates on providing a firmer foundation for the principal's home there. The building's poor state of repair came to the board's attention when it recently inspected Gulfview to see what could be done

Hancock County has lead the coast counties in emphasis on highway safety, Wallace Chapman, head of the newly organized Gulf Coast Safety Council, on Monday told coast civic officials at the monthly meeting of the

Who(m) Do You Blame?

The Louisiana legislature has before it a proposed law that would make the office of superintendent of education an appointive one instead of having it elective. In Mississippi this office, state and county, is elective. Hancock County's experience over the last ten weeks has shown a major reason for the proposed change in Louisiana, a change this paper thinks Mississippi should follow.

Mr. R. E. Webb, superintendent (principal) of Hancock North Central, is the senior employed individual in the county school system. He was hired before there was a Hancock North Central to oversee the building plans for our new school. He was hired by the Hancock County Board of Education, presumably approved by the then superintendent of education, Mr. E. E. Breland. From our observation Mr. Webb has done a good job under difficult circumstances not of his making. Like anybody else this opinion of ours may be incorrect.

The important thing at this time is not whether Mr. Webb has done a satisfactory job, an unsatisfactory job or a mediocre job. There is friction in the county school system. The friction occurred on the assumption of office by recently elected Superintendent of Education, Mr. K. G. McCarty. Mr. McCarty doesn't want Mr. Webb to be superintendent of Hancock North Central. The majority of the county board of education, who appointed Mr. Webb, apparently thinks Mr. Webb has done a good job and wants to keep him. Lest this editor be misunderstood, though not germane to this editorial, he thinks Mr. Webb has done a good job and agrees with the board of education.

The important thing involved is "whom do you blame." The voters elected the superintendent of education; they also elected the board of education. If things don't go well at North Central or Gulfview or some other place, whom do you blame? Do you blame the board, whose members are responsible for policy matters? Do you blame the superintendent of education, whose job is basically administrative but has some policy aspects?

Perhaps we should say "whom can you blame" instead of "whom do you blame," but, really "who do YOU blame?"

Why And Where

We suspect that many people have an attitude toward their business with which others would disagree. We know that a lot of people disagree with our concept of the newspaper business. We still have our idea of the whys and wherefores of a newspaper, and as long as we pay for it, we'll have to use our idea.

This is all brought on by the number of people who tell us we shouldn't print a story, we should print a story on page one, or why don't we investigate this person or that person and expose him or her, etc. Some of these criticisms are easy to answer. For instance, we don't run a detective agency so we're not trying to "expose" anyone, though as a matter of routine we sometimes do. Why some stories are on page one and others aren't is usually a question of judgment. In the Echo's case we try to group women's news, which means that stories we feel are basically of interest to women only are not on the front page. Local sport news is usually on next to the last page unless we think a sports story is of unusual interest, in which case it will start on page one and be continued inside. Bay High's basketball tournament and Hancock North Central's winning the state basketball championship are illustrations of this exception. Always the importance of a story relative to the other news items that week has a bearing on how the story will be played in this paper.

Sometimes we can satisfactorily explain our policies to objectors, but twice recently we have had requests we couldn't satisfactorily answer politely. In both cases the requestor gave as the reason why we should leave out the news item, "it's controversial". If we had to pick out one justification for a newspaper and for a newspaper's favored position under our constitution, it would be that the paper prints news of things over which there is controversy.

Hancock Countians again have an opportunity to see some beautiful homes and gardens all for free. The spring pilgrimage of the Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs started last Saturday at Pascagoula. On Tuesday, March 22, the participating homes and gardens in the Bay-Waveland area will be open. You can't lose, so why not take out of Tuesday off and see some beautiful places.

Mr. K. G. McCarty, county superintendent of education, is in prominent company when he belittles Hancock North Central's basketball champions. Admiral Rick Rickman, recently told the people of Idaho, renowned for its potato picking, was not as important as Hancock County's basketball team. Ironically the admiral and Mr. McCarty are correct, but they were either politic or ignorant.

Southern Solons Gird For 'Rights' Battle

With Congressman William M. Colmer (D-Miss.) in the chair, representatives from the 10 Southern States met in caucus on the eve of the debate on the Civil Rights Bill, commanded Southern senators for their filibuster, and organized to fight the legislation in the House.

Congressman Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) was named as floor leader, and Colmer was authorized to appoint a strategy committee of five. To this committee he named Davis of Georgia, Kitkin of North Carolina, Haley of Florida, Murray of Tennessee, and Harris of Arkansas. Colmer and Smith will serve on it ex officio.

Pointing out that a filibuster is not possible under their rules, Colmer praised "those who have given unlimitedly of time, efforts, and talents to prevent these 'civil wrongs' proposals in any form from reaching the floor." With the bill now before the house,

Letters to The Editor

Editor, Sea Coast Echo:

This is Nurse Appreciation Week and those that have been critically sick and were administered back to health with the aid of a professional nurse and the help of God know the depth of real appreciation. The Angel of Mercy is quite often given her as a name.

A nurse is no longer only a person whom you pay. She is a highly organized, highly paid professional with more responsibilities to her patient, to the doctor and to the public than ever before in the lifetime of nursing. In the 18th century a nurse was looked upon as a mere servant or a charitable service and only recently has she fallen into this highly paid professional group.

The duties of the nurse to the public are enormous. She must be a cooperative team member to her doctor, a teacher to both her patient and to the public. There is a very tangible line she must not cross. A nurse nowadays must not be satisfied just to go to work and back home. She owes it to her profession and to the public to keep alert. There are refresher courses given all the time. You need to go to the nurses meetings and to keep up with the new methods of nursing through your organization. You need to go to the nurses' conventions as often as possible. We need to know the how without causing a question when we have the responsibility of helping save a person's life.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The editor was in a hospital all last week with the result that this letter is printed a week late. The writer is certainly correct in her pride in her profession and is hereby alerted to know the how and techniques of her profession.

The drainage problem particularly affects the low areas in the vicinity of Clermont Harbor, Lakeshore and Ansley. The disaster chairman noted that this condition prolongs the after effects of a hurricane in addition to the health and sanitation problem.

On his third point about a communication system should a storm destroy normal channels, McDonald suggested this might be handled through civil defense or some other agency with radiotelephone service.

Kenneth Whithfield, county director of civil defense, spoke at the hearing on the importance of warning and evacuation during hurricanes. A high wall would help, he declared, but flash floods are just as likely to occur from the island. To be satisfactory, a wall would have to be strong enough to withstand hurricanes with winds of 125 miles an hour and 40-foot swells.

Also attending the session from Hancock County was Kenneth Pepperman, vice chairman of the Red Cross chapter.

Among other proposals submitted by various coastal groups attending were a permanent weather ship in the north Gulf of Mexico, federal aid in replenishing the sand beach, two seven-foot high breakwaters between Gulfport and Cat Island, a breakwater in the Bay of St. Louis north and northeast of Pass Christian and additional aid from the Engineers Corps in the clean up after a hurricane.

Necaise Clan Guns Clinton's Arrows

By JIMMIE McDOWELL
State Times Sports Editor

Just too many dog-gone Necaises!

They came at Clinton in droves, this Gulf Coast clan, with spidery Douglas Necaise, weaving the web which strangled the proud Clinton Arrows, 63-55, for the 1960 over-all Mississippi State high school boys' basketball championship at the City Auditorium Saturday night.

warfare, Ed Buskin and Sidney Odum led a gallant Clinton come-back at the end of the third period, narrowing the margin to a single point as the fourth quarter got under way, 46-45.

Dauntless Doug fired away for two and Hutton counter-attacked to trim the score again, but then elongated Wayne blasted one whistling through the cords and tipped in another. He followed with a third basket after Don Turnage had hit the bulleye and then that spiderman, Doug, popped the wicket twice and it was all over but the shouting. The teams traded field goals then until the final whistle in the last moments of action.

It was a cleanly played, hard-fought game. Only 15 fouls were called, nine against Clinton and six against the champions. Arthur Burns and Dave Dunaway worked the titanic tussle before an overflow crowd.

Hancock showed superiority on the boards and thrilled the crowd with aggressiveness and ball-stealing antics. They came to play and did not even go to the dressing room at halftime. When MHSAA executive secretary W. D. Allen brought the huge trophies to the scoring table at intermission, big Wayne left his seat on the bench and came over for a look. He liked the larger one the most and his three straight two-pointers is everlasting proof of same.

our city neighbors to join us this year, as we celebrate the 25th birthday of rural electrification.

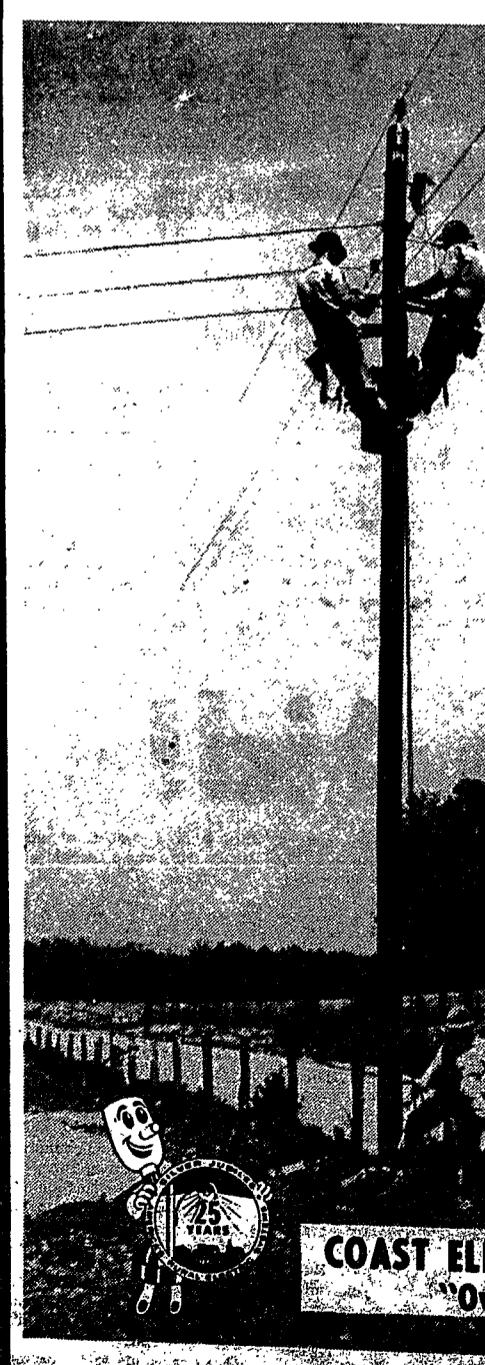

THERE'S A GOOD REASON. City jobs are more secure, paychecks fatter, and business is better, since rural Americans banded together to serve themselves with electric light and power.

THIS YEAR THEY WILL BUY over a billion dollars worth of electric appliances and equipment—made and sold in cities and towns. And this market didn't exist until rural America was electrified by member-owned, private enterprises, such as ours.

THOUSANDS OF MEN, WOMEN, CHILDREN—our city neighbors—live happier, safer lives today, because of this great surge of buying power provided by the growing needs of rural America.

That's why we're proud to say . . .

RURAL ELECTRIFICATION is good for ALL Americans!

Fires Ravage 1,033 Acres Here

Approximately 50 fires destroying 1,033 acres were checked March 1-4 by county fire fighting forces who often worked 14 hour shifts, according to Area Forester Marion Parker.

The first three weeks of this month have been the worst this year, Parker said, blaming high winds of 15-20 miles per hour and relatively dry brush.

Buehler, accompanied by Joe Benvenuto and Russell Elliott, said the board would have a copy of the Legion resolution before the hearing.

Hubbard explained that when the League of Women Voters earlier sought aid the past board had not wanted to set a precedent in assisting persons injured while working for the county, but it would be up to the present board to make its own decision.

Approximately $1,000 was given to Bourgeois since the board paid his salary for three months after he was injured and made additional contributions through his brother, who turned his county-paid salary over to Bourgeois, Hubbard said.

No state statute provides for a county-paid night jailer, but the position can be paid by the sheriff, Hubbard told League representatives. When Bourgeois was hired, he explained, the sheriff at that time would not pay him because he did not feel he could afford a night jailer, so the board did after local citizens insisted a night jailer be employed.

Clearing up a matter under question for some time by new supervisors, Board Attorney Sam Favre said Circuit Judge Leslie Grant stated new supervisors could not change the jury list submitted by the former supervisors during their tenure of office, but could clear out the

"We were on fighting fires this past week until the heavy rains came," said Parker. "The largest fire we battled was Monday northeast of Hancock North Central School when 120 acres burned."

"Wednesday through Saturday of last week there were 22 separate fires and 383 acres burned before our three-man crews could suppress them," he commented.

Most of the fires were classified as incendiary, set along the roadside by a careless smoker, but some have been debris fires which got out of hand after they were set to clear land. The department is able to collect fire fighting costs from the landowner on these fires, according to Parker.

He asked anyone doing control or debris burning to notify the Rocky Hill Fire Tower at HO-7-4811 and to check proper fire lanes and other precautions to keep the fires within their own boundaries.

Parker said the fire season will continue through April and requested anyone seeing a fire to contact the tower.

line tax revenue.

Mrs. G. J. Barletter of Bayou La Croix was assured the board could not contribute funds to Patrick Nursing Home at Pineville for care of Mr. and Mrs. John Lee, county patients at the home, since the couple does not qualify for welfare payments.

The board approved state aid project No. S-2345 for 0.284 miles of bridges and approaches on the Mill Creek Road in Beat 2 and a $100 monthly salary increase for Deputy Chancery Clerk Marie Quintal from the county service officers' fund for service aid.

The board approved payment of $9,870 to B and L Tractor Co. of Picayune from the seawall maintenance fund after Favre explained full payments could be made from a major fund and replenished monthly from the district's gaso-

Apartment Blaze Fatal To Former Bay People

Leigh Carroll III, 21-year old Tulane university freshman law student, stepson and son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Gaudet, formerly of Bay St. Louis, his wife, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Edmund Kerrigan of Pass Christian and formerly of Bay St. Louis; and three-month-old son burned to death early Sunday when flames roared through their attic apartment of 1844 State St., New Orleans. Kerrigan is a former commodore of Pass Christian Yacht Club.

Funeral services were conducted at St. Paul's Catholic church, Pass Christian, interment was in Live Oak cemetery. Mr. and Mrs. Gaudet, who formerly resided in the 600 block of North Beach near U. S. 90, owners of the building, escaped when they and three other residents were awakened by Walter H. Parson, a taxi driver who discovered the fire at 4:10 a.m. Gaudet and Parson returned to the building in an attempt to rescue the young Carroll family but it was impossible to climb the burning steps and firemen ordered them from the house. Fire Chief Joseph Kaupp said. Flames and smoke blocked the stairway exit, he added.

New Orleans' coroner's office reported each of the three had first, second and third degree burns covering 95 per cent of the body. Cause of the fire was undetermined and an investigation is being conducted by the state fire marshal and the New Orleans Fire Prevention Bureau. It was a 2 1/2 story frame structure. Kaupp turned in a repeated general alarm when he saw the flames from a distance of five blocks.

The couple had celebrated their first wedding anniversary Saturday night. They were married March 13, 1959. Carroll was the son of the late Leigh Carroll II, brother of Joseph W. Frederick S. Carroll and Mary Elizabeth Gaudet. Mrs. Carroll is survived by her parents and a sister, Mrs. Conrad M. Kuebel and a brother, John E. Kerrigan jr.

Further recognition of North Central's state championship basketball team was made when Luis Nicasio moved, seconded by Alton Keller, that a letter be written Coach James Johnson commanding him for his role in the victory. Previously the board had adopted a resolution saluting the team with each member to get a copy.

An allocation of $90 for purchase of landscaping shrubbery for North Central was approved. Merchants Bank has donated $50 toward the overall cost of $175.

A request from John Ladner to buy the dwelling behind the agricultural building at Klin School was tabled because thought had been given to using it to erect a garage at North Central. Travel expenses of D. J. Martin, agricultural instructor, were approved along with reimbursement to McCarty and two bus drivers for their expenditures on transportation.

County Alums
To Celebrate
Southern Day

Mississippi Southern College alumni in Hancock County will celebrate March 30, annual Southern College Day, with a dutch treat dinner at Hancock North Central School.

The program will begin at 5:30 p.m. with a 30-minute state-wide radio broadcast from the campus. Dinner will be served at 6:15 p.m.

Reservations can be made with Mrs. J. E. Erwin of Bay St. Louis or Hancock North Central Superintendent R. E. Webb.

March 30 has been celebrated by Southern alumni everywhere since 1954 when it was voted to observe the date of the state legislation establishing the institution, March 30, 1910.

Because there will be one performance only and the seating capacity of the theater limited, only members and their guests accompanying them will be admitted. The guest admission is $1. Membership tickets for 1960 may be purchased in the foyer up to 8:15 p.m. Friday.

The choral group students will play other various parts.

School pictures were returned to the students Friday afternoon.

It was anybody's game in the opening minutes of the final period, both teams scoring to up the tally to 46-47 but three field goals by Wayne and two by ace scorer Douglas Necease piled up a nine-point lead the Clinton lads were never able to overcome.

The Neceases executed an amazing feat holding Clinton's fabulous Doug Hutton, who scored 101 points in two games in the A-AAA tourney last week and the first player to be signed by Mississippi State University, to 17 points. Barney is credited with the lion's share of guarding honors.

The Hawks kept the spectators in a state of fingernail-biting tension throughout the contest with their hard, aggressive play and ball stealing tactics.

W. D. Allen, Mississippi High School Activities Association executive secretary, awarded the championship trophy to North Central and the runner-up trophy to Clinton.

"We know we beat a good ball club," Johnson said. "We were lucky by getting the lead at the right time and holding on to it. We put Barney on Hutton and when the need arose, had some of the others overshift to help."

Although Clinton appeared to be off, missing often, probably the most important factor in the game was the Hawks' alertness in controlling the backboards after a miss.

Douglas sank 10 field goals to top the scoring with 20, Donald and Wayne getting 14 each. John 8, Barney 5 and Calvin Shaw 2. For Clinton Hutton got

BEAUTY TIPS by Mercedes Spahr

HAIR TRICKS... Low forehead, round face? A short bang effect will do wonders. Some smart girls wear wings of blonde or silver hair at the temples. These, surprisingly enough, give an illusion of forehead height. Dangle earrings do interesting tricks to this facial type too. Try them.

WHAT KIND OF HAIRDO? — A soft hairstyle (not too fluffy) does wonders for be-spectacled ladies. But no bangs for you—unless they're short, uneven, with a casually brushed effect. Avoid center parts... off-center lines do the most for you.

SHINY PROBLEM? Shiny noses keep powdered longer this way! After you've powdered, pat just the tiniest bit of water over you nose, forehead, and other areas that take a shine quickly. Let it dry, then re-powder. Now pat away excess powder carefully with a pad of cotton.

FOR YOUR BEAUTY ADVICE CALL HO-7-5202. MERCEDES BEAUTY SALON, FOREST AVENUE, CLERMONT HARBOR, FROM UNDER THE DRYER: Hair should always be a "kissable" length—that is, the neck should be bare so that it can be kissed.

Shoulda Gone Fishin'

BY EDDIE ENGELHORN

Water still muddy and fresh from too much rain although the sun broke through and the weekend was nice and sunny. Some catches of green trout were reported by old timers who apparently have some secret holes — they won't divulge the locations.

Game Warden Randolph Bourgeois says turkey hunters should get their guns in condition as the season opens April 1 for nine days — through the 9th. Another nine day period is scheduled for April 18-26. Randolph expects good hunting this year. The current license, which expires June 30, is good for this season but anyone not having a license may obtain one at his home, 447 Ballantine.

Veteran fisherman Lee Ferrell of Waveland took time out from his plumbing business last week to take advantage of a beautiful weekend to bring home one of the best catches reported recently. Caught the limit of green trout Saturday and Sunday up the Jordan.

Roy Tudury reports he was fishing in a pond in the vicinity of the "mountain dew" still that was raided last week in Harrison County and which "revenuers" called the biggest business ever hit in this area. Thousands of gallons of mash, moonshine, etc., were dynamited and Roy says he thinks he knows the reason now why the catfish he caught had such happy expressions.

Mel and Isobel Villere of Waveland boated four nice green trout last week but we haven't been able to find out where.

If anyone wonders why the golden-toned trumpet of Charlie Banderet has been silenced for the past year and a half it is because he has been very ill in the Veteran's Hospital in Biloxi. Glad to see Charlie up and around. We think he is the best musician ever produced in Bay St. Louis. Charlie says fishing in Biloxi is okay but you can't beat the L and N's second jigger.

The whole team was honored by the student body Tuesday in the gym and members of the school board took turns praising the lads. Mrs. C. C. McDonald complimenting the boys on their fine sportsmanship even in games where their opponents were out to win at any cost. A sober thought was brought out by Superintendent K. G. McCarty who reminded the assembly that the school was essentially an educational institution. Berlin Necease, the team's No. 1 replacement, was cited for making the honor roll again.

The Neceases deserve the lion's share of the credit and of the spotlight the state's newspapers have focused on the school but sitting on the sidelines ready for any emergency are some mighty fine ball players who will get their turn next year. Keep your eyes on Calvin Shaw and McCoy Peterson and watch out for the Ladners, Darryl, Bulice, Donald and O.W. There is another dark horse named Donald Ray Necease.

We have read conflicting accounts in three papers as to the relationship of the Neceases, a writer for a Gulfport paper stating the nearest relation any of the boys are is second cousin, which was quoted in a New Orleans paper. The two papers also state that all are seniors except Douglas, which is also in error. A Jackson paper stated Doug is only junior in the starting lineup.

Fact is, three of the Neceases are first cousins, John, Barney and Douglas, while Donald is a first cousin to John on his mother's side, Wayne and Berlin are third cousins to all.

John, Barney and Wayne are seniors; Douglas, Donald and Berlin are juniors but Donald will also be lost to the team because his eligibility runs out.

A. E. Alexander of the Driftwood Motel and A. G. Dantagian fished in famous Little and Big Eagle Lakes near Vicksburg last week. They snagged 17 white perch weighing in at from 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 pounds each but the prize was five pound bass, the honor roll again.
